

Geography and History of the World Outline.

1. Be able to present knowledge on the origin and spread of world religions, exploration, conquests, imperialism, urbanization, innovations, and revolutions.
2. Be able to incorporate primary and secondary sources into at least one project.
3. One of the projects must be presented in a formal speech setting.
4. Be able to present knowledge that incorporate geographical terms such as change over time, origin, diffusion, physical systems, cultural landscapes, and spatial distribution and interaction.
5. Must incorporate a formal research writing on any topic from above.